SUGAR INTERESTSWillett & Gray Do Not Believe
Sugar Tariff Will Be Disturbed This Session

Willett & Gray's review of the raw sugar market, in their Journal of July 11, contains an interesting discussion of the bearings of politics of this presidential year upon the sugar interests. The review in full is as follows:

The weak tone noticeable last week giving possibility of further decline, has given place to a firmer and steadier condition, leading to free buying by refiners and particularly by the American whose purchases probably reach 100,000 bags, at 2 13-32c. c. & f. (3.77c.), during the last few days.

These purchases cleared the market of all offerings not in position for delayed sales. July shipments are now held firm at 2 7-16c. c. & f. with the trend in favor of the seller, and so there is encouragement to look for some improvement from the present low basis, as compared with prices and conditions elsewhere. The week is especially notable for the upward course of the sugar markets abroad within the speculative arena of the sugar exchanges. It is known that a large short interest existed in these exchanges and the week developed a strong desire on the part of the short sellers to cover their contracts, which being taken advantage of by holders of long contracts caused a somewhat phenomenal rise in old crop beet sugars, while leaving the value of the new crop comparatively unchanged.

Manipulation of Beets.
This manipulation of beet sugar is shown by the quotations of the week, starting at 10s. 11 1-4d., advancing to 11s. 1 1-4d., reacting to 11s. 0 3-4d., followed by a daily course of rising markets to 11s. 1 1-4d. to 11s. 5 1-4d. to 11s. 6d.; to 12s. at the close (4.54c.). Cane Javas participated from 11s. 6d. to 11s. 10 1-2d., only showing that it is the paper contracts that are mostly interested. The difference in parity between centrifugals and beets has returned to 77s. per 100 lbs., while between centrifugals and Javas it is only 41c. per 100 lbs.

Speaking of Javas, our regular cable herewith is of interest. It had been expected that probably as much as 100,000 tons, mostly of Java whites, would be exported in June, mostly intended for England, but the cable gives only 45,000 tons exports, of which 31,000 tons have American options.

These American options may or may not be availed of, however. The information given in our Philippine Islands cable herewith rather indicates that some Javas may eventually come here—to cover a less supply than expected from these islands. The exports in June to U. S. are but 4000 tons, against 40,000 tons elsewhere. Notwithstanding these sugars pay no duties, their present value here, is less than their value elsewhere.

The Tariff Outlook.
Possible tariff changes on other sugars of foreign origin is responsible for lack of interest shown by our refiners in these sugars of more distant shipments than a few weeks. As regards such tariff changes, we refer especially elsewhere, and can add that our up-to-date advice from Washington is even more emphatic that nothing definite will be accomplished at this session of Congress to change the present rates of duties. After the Lorimer case is disposed of, the wool bill comes first, the excise bill second, and then the sugar bill. If the excise bill (which proposes an income tax to replace the loss of sugar duties) should be voted down, as it almost certainly will be, it is doubtful whether the sugar bill will be brought to a vote in the Senate. But if it should be it would fail, as probably all of the Republicans and a few of the Democrats would vote against it.

The political situation in the U. S. is exceedingly mixed and the results of the election for President, coming in November, are indeed problematical, with the tone and tendency, at the time, favoring a Democratic victory. Should such result we have reason to believe that the sugar tariff question will be dealt with in an entirely new method, similar to that which prevails in all sugar producing countries, a customs tariff combined with an internal revenue tax so arranged as to give the government a small revenue on every pound of sugar which goes into consumption, while, at the same time, reducing the cost of sugar to the consumer very materially. We do not believe the Democrats, if they regain power, will do away entirely with revenue from sugar replacing it with what has always been a disagreeable income tax upon the people. The people see an income tax every time the bill is presented and do not see or feel the indirect tax on sugar.

The final settlement of the always arising conflict over sugar tariff, by a radical change in the system, would, we believe, be acceptable to all sugar interests.

Increased Consumption.
At the close, today, the Warner paid a small advance for prompt shipment sugars at 2 7-16c. c. & f., equal to 3.80c., and the offerings for forward shipments are comparatively light at any price.

Weather conditions for all growing crops come to us, this week, as very favorable. Europe, Cuba, Demerara and the West Indies all agree in this.

We give herewith our usual table of the six months' consumption of sugar in the United States, showing 1,764,292 tons, against 1,672,436 tons for corresponding period of last year; an increase of 91,856 tons or 5 1-2 per cent.

PHILIPPINE SUGAR
FINDS NO MARKET

The following article appears in a late issue of the Manila Bulletin:

According to a prominent sugar exporter, there are about 1,200,000 piculs of sugar stored in the warehouses of Iloilo, a goodly portion of which has been mortgaged to the banks as security for advance loans. And the same exporter was of the opinion that the owners would have a hard time getting rid of it.

"The phenomenal rise in sugar last year," said the exporter referred to, "was not a normal rise due to increased consumption. It was due to the drought in Germany and the consequent shortage in the German beet sugar crop. The German beet sugar is cheaper than cane sugar and almost fills the demand of Europe, but last year, on account of the drought in Germany, Europe imported a vast amount of cane sugar, which accounts for the sudden demand for Philippine sugar at that time.

"Such prices as prevailed last year will perhaps never again be reached. The fact is that the American importers won't look at Philippine sugar, whose quality is only 88 degrees and does not reach the importer till about two or three months after the order is placed, as long as they can get 96-degree Cuban sugar delivered a month after placing the order. The German beet sugar is also about 96-degree quality.

"The local producers often blame the exporters here for failing to find a market for their sugar, but such blame is unjustified. They must blame themselves. When the Philippines produce 96-degree sugar, there will be a demand for the product, and this quality can be produced only by up-to-date mills. At present sugar is being shipped from Iloilo in small lots on consignment. Shipping on consignment is their only hope of getting rid of the tremendous stock at present stored away in Iloilo."

Money Market Affected.
The Manila Cablenews-American, on the same subject, has the following: "It developed yesterday that the nature of the aid extended by the government to the Bank of the Philippines was in the shape of a deposit of 800,000 pesos with the bank, which will restore the coffers of that institution and, it is hoped, relieve the stringency in the money market which has made loans difficult since it became known that all money tied up in Negros sugar would remain inaccessible until a break in the market.

A number of local banks are carrying heavy loans against the 1912 sugar crop, many of them being involved several millions of pesos. The Bank of the Philippines carries a bulk of the paper, and in order to protect themselves and the planters, arrangements were made through local officials and the Washington authorities to increase the cash deposits of the insular government.

There is no apparent change in the condition of the sugar market, prices quoted remaining lower than the figure which the dealers are willing to accept. This condition means that stagnation will feature the market here until such time as prices reach a level at which the sugar men will unload, keeping a good portion of the ready money of the banks out of the reach of other branches of industry.

FIRST BATTLESHIP TO GO TO PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Ore., July 6.—Thousands of Oregonians went down to Portland harbor today and saw the famous old battleship Oregon for the first time in her twenty years' existence drop anchor within the confines of the State whose name she bears. Also they saw the first battleship that ever came to Portland and the first battleship, it is believed, to enter a port a hundred miles from salt water.

The famous vessel arrived here from Puget Sound, having been sent to Portland in honor of the Elks' convention.

TURNED OUT TRUE

Coffee Drinking Responsible.

"At a dinner party a number of years ago a physician made this statement, 'Coffee drinking is responsible for more ills than any other one thing, but it is impossible for me to make my patients believe it.'"

The lady further says: "Neither would I believe him, but continued to drink my coffee with sweet content. After a time I became aware of the fact that I was frequently lying awake nearly all night without any apparent reason, and the morning found me tired out and nervous. 'The insomnia increased, then came a dull pain at the base of the brain and severe pressure at my heart. My outside work was given up for I could hardly bear the little fatigue of the day. 'Nervous prostration brought on by overwork,' the doctor said, I thought of the words of old Dr. Bagley—'Coffee is the poison that is responsible,' etc., etc.

"I had heard of Postum and determined to try it. The first cup was so weak and flat that it was not fit to drink. The next time it was prepared I looked after it myself to see that the directions were followed properly. The result was a revelation; I found it a delicious beverage.

"The cure was not wrought in a day but little by little my nerves became strong, the pain ceased, and again I could sleep like a tired child.

"I am now completely restored to health by Postum used in place of ordinary coffee, have regained the fresh complexion of girlhood, and I can realize the truth of the old doctor's statement. I wish people could understand that truth before they permit coffee to break them down.

I have known of several others who have been restored to health by leaving off coffee and taking up Postum."
